Michael Niyompong joins Mental Health Center of Denver

DENVER...The Mental Health Center of Denver welcomes Michael Niyompong as our new Vice President of Strategic Community Partnerships, starting May 21. Niyompong, a well-known Denver non-profit executive, will be responsible for working with community partners and businesses to meet the mental health and well-being needs of the community.

“We feel fortunate to have Michael join our team. He is widely respected and admired for both his dedication to non-profit causes and his strategic expertise of building community partnerships,” said Carl Clark, M.D., President and CEO of the Mental Health Center of Denver. “The combination will be valuable as the Mental Health Center of Denver works hand-in-hand with community groups across the metro area to improve access to care and promote well-being.”

Previously, Niyompong was the chief operating officer at Clayton Early Learning, Colorado’s leading catalyst in providing access to high-quality early care and education. He served as vice president at Rebound Solutions, a socially conscious firm specializing in strategy, change management and turn-around solutions. He has worked at iGivefirst, Mile High United Way, Hitachi Consulting, Advanced Micro Devices (AMD) and National Semiconductor.

Niyompong earned his BS in electrical and computer engineering from the University of Colorado Boulder and his MBA in finance and MS in operations management from the Daniels College of Business at the University of Denver.

He is dedicated to giving back to the community and has volunteered for Project Angel Heart, the Academy of Urban Learning, the Denver Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual, Transgender (GLBT) Commission, Denver Metro Chamber Leadership Foundation, the Colorado Nonprofit Development Center and Rocky Mountain PBS.

According to Niyompong, “I am thrilled to join an organization that is so well-respected locally and nationally. I look forward to working with the passionate and committed team at the Mental Health Center of Denver to enrich the lives and minds of the people we serve every day.”

The Mental Health Center of Denver is known nationally as a model for innovative community mental health care. For more than 25 years, we have provided mental health and support services to enhance the well-being of children, families and adults in the Denver metro area. We are a private, not-for-profit community mental health center that primarily serves the City and County of Denver. Working together with our partners, we create opportunities for people to overcome challenges and impact communities. Last year, we provided treatment, prevention, outreach and crisis services to more than 60,000 children, families and adults.
